

Navigating Cost Price Increases on Amazon: Independent Strategies, Benchmarks, and Lessons Learned

By Megan Harvey // July 8, 2025 //

July 31, 2025 @ 11am EST

With tariff pressures mounting, many consumer brands are planning cost price increases in 2025. For Amazon vendors, implementing those increases is uniquely challenging due to its market pricing algorithms and internal cost justification requirements.

Stratably's Claire McBride and Consulterce's Martin Heubel will walk through how Amazon vendors are independently managing these dynamics, sharing tactical examples, benchmarks, and practical considerations that have helped brands navigate the process more effectively.

Here's what we'll cover:

- Benchmarking data from 100+ brands on how widespread cost increases will be this year, and what other levers brands are using to manage margin pressure
- Real-world strategies brands have used to justify and implement cost price increases with Amazon
- How price changes may affect retail pricing, POs, and growth forecasts

We'll also address frequently asked questions like:

- Can I get a cost increase through without a vendor manager?
- How should I evaluate a guaranteed margin or cost support agreement?
- What documentation does Amazon expect to see to justify a price change?

Modernizing Your Walmart Connect Strategy: Budget and Allocation Shifts for 2025

By Megan Harvey // May 15, 2025 //

July 8, 2025 @ 12pm EST

Walmart Connect is evolving fast, and with it, the old rules of budget allocation no longer apply. With more placements and smarter automation for Paid Search, growth in Walmart's self-serve Display offerings, the launch of Connected TV, and In-Store media opportunities, brands are increasingly moving to full-funnel strategies with Walmart.

In this webinar, Stratably's Russ Dieringer and Tinuiti's Stuart Clay will walk through what's changed at Walmart Connect and what it means for your 2025 budget strategy.

They'll explain how leading brands are shifting their spend across ad units, how to adopt a flexible budget model, and what a modern budget mix actually looks like, including an example allocation to help guide your planning.

You'll learn:

- What's changed at Walmart Connect over the past year
- How to shift from a search-heavy model to full-funnel allocation
- Tactical recommendations for Paid Search, Display, Connected TV, and In-Store media
- How to build budget flexibility to support test-and-learns
- A sample Walmart Connect budget mix

Assortment Prioritization: An Actionable Framework to Get More Out of the Amazon Flywheel

By Claire McBride // May 14, 2025 //

June 10, 2025 @ 12pm EST

Too many brands waste time and money focusing effort on the wrong products on Amazon.

Why? Because they haven't built a system to prioritize their assortment. As a result, crucial decisions are driven by gut feelings, often made reactively using surface-level metrics.

How does this impact your brand? Misallocated budgets, misaligned internal teams, and missed opportunities to maximize Net PPM and market share.

Assortment Prioritization is the solution: a system for analyzing your product portfolio using key performance criteria - like sales, profitability, media performance, share of voice, and item maturity - to drive smarter planning, speed up decision-making, and get more out of the Amazon Flywheel.

In this webinar, we'll walk through an intentional approach to building your own Prioritization SOP for Amazon assortment - one tailored to your brand's goals. You'll learn:

- The most effective data points for evaluating your assortment from various sources including AMC
- How to group products into tiers and set clear performance benchmarks
- How to audit your current assortment against these benchmarks to identify where to invest, optimize, or pull back

- And finally, how to turn this audit into an actionable roadmap that drives alignment across teams and partners

Join Jake Merrill and Sam Jennings, Co-Founders of Odyssey Ecommerce, and Russ Dieringer, Founder & CEO of Stratably, to learn how to build a systematized approach to assortment prioritization.

Stairway to Heaven: The 7 Steps to Amazon Digital Shelf Maturity

By Claire McBride // April 24, 2025 //

May 20, 2025 @ 2pm EST

The digital shelf is no longer just a content checklist—it's a competitive battleground where brands either win visibility, conversion, and loyalty... or get buried by algorithms, AI, and shopper apathy.

With Amazon accelerating its transformation through GenAI, Rufus, and full-funnel retail media integration, brands must evolve their digital shelf approach—or risk becoming irrelevant, invisible and ultimately forgotten.

In this session, we'll unveil the Stairway to Heaven: Digital Shelf Maturity Framework, a step-by-step model for assessing and advancing your PDP performance on Amazon and beyond. We'll break down each of the 7 C's of digital shelf maturity—Complete, Compliant, Consistent, Compelling, Connected, Customized, and Continuous—with a deeper dive into the top four stages most critical for true market share advantage.

Key questions we'll explore:

- What does it really mean to have a Compelling PDP in a Rufus-influenced world?
- How do you ensure your PDPs are Connected to your full-funnel search and media strategies?
- What does Customized look like through emerging GenAI-driven personalization and segmentation?

Join Chris Perry, Chief Learning Officer of firstmovr and Russ Dieringer, Founder & CEO of Stratably to learn how to climb the digital shelf maturity curve—step by step—while unlocking your edge on Amazon.

How Brands “Do” Retail Media in 2025

By Claire McBride // January 3, 2025 //

February 11, 2025 @ 12pm EST

Retail media is rapidly transforming how consumer brands engage with consumers and retailers, with nearly half of brands reporting retail media is a top priority within its overall marketing strategy.

But navigating the opportunity isn't straightforward.

Retail media blurs the lines between retail and media, creating unique organizational challenges. From structuring teams and allocating budgets to managing external partnerships and measuring performance, many critical questions remain unanswered.

In this webinar, we'll share insights from our second annual How Brands "Do" Retail Media study, conducted in partnership with the Digital Shelf Institute. We'll explore the evolving landscape of retail media within consumer brand organizations by combining quantitative analysis from 92 manufacturers and qualitative insights from dozens of in-depth interviews and share groups.

We'll answer the most pressing questions facing brands today, such as:

- Who should lead and be involved in retail media?
- How should we fund different retail media ad types?
- How should we structure the organization to support retail media?
- What metrics should we be using to measure retail media performance?
- To what extent should we be working with our retail partners on retail media?

Our expert speakers:

- Lauren Livak Gilbert, Executive Director, Digital Shelf Institute
- Russ Dieringer, CEO and Founder, Stratably
- Claire McBride, VP of Research and Education, Stratably

This webinar is tailored for retail leaders inside consumer brands tasked with strategizing, organizing, and executing retail media initiatives.

Register today to gain clarity and confidence on your retail media decisions with data-driven insights and actionable takeaways.
